ATCN Course Overview

The ATCN Course is taught concurrently with Advanced Trauma Life Support for Physicians (ATLS). This is an advanced level nursing course designed to increase the nurse's knowledge in the management of the multiple trauma patient based on the ATLS standards of trauma care.

ATCN is overseen by the Society of Trauma Nurses. This course targets the experienced nurse practicing in the following areas: Prehospital and Aeromedical, Emergency Department, Surgical Intensive Care Units, and the Operating Room.

The ATCN participant audits the ATLS lectures, inclusive of Initial Assessment, Airway Management, Shock, Abdominal, Thoracic, Head, Spine, and Musculoskeletal Trauma Pediatric, Burns, Trauma in Women and Transfer to Definitive Care. The ATCN nurse participants will attend skills stations that are specifically designed to integrate the knowledge presented in the lectures. The skill stations are scenario-based and require interactive demonstration
